

IBERIAN SUITE: global arts remix

The Kennedy Center presents a major festival highlighting the many cultures that comprise the Portuguese- and Spanish-speaking peoples—the impact they’ve had throughout the world, and the vast influences they’ve embraced from other cultures.

Continuing the Kennedy Center’s exploration of international arts, IBERIAN SUITE: global arts remix is a major festival highlighting the many cultures that comprise the Portuguese and Spanish speaking peoples, and the impact they have had around the world, as well as the vast influence this region has embraced from other cultures.

The festival, curated by Alicia Adams, Vice President of International Programming and Dance, will include dozens of performances by some of the region’s best contemporary music, dance, and theater artists—many of whom are making their U.S. or D.C. debuts—as well as companies from around the world. Visual arts will be highlighted in exhibitions and installations around the building, and additional events will focus on literature, design, fashion, and more.
